Wayne Becker of St. Jacobs is transferred to ambulance

Electrician hurt at Conestoga

By Heather Henry

An electrician was taken to hospital by ambulance after receiving minor injuries from a short in an electrical panel at Conestoga College's Doon campus July 16 at about 5 p.m.

Wayne Becker, of St. Jacobs, was to connect the new nursing wing with the campus's existing power supply. At the time of the accident Becker was only assessing the job, said Mac Rostance, the college's physical resources manager.

Becker had a screwdriver in the existing panel and was trying to determine if a circuit breaker was going to fit. The screwdriver came in contact with a casing, causing the short, said Rostance.

Rostance said Becker didn't receive an electrical shock, but did receive burns from a flash similar to that of a welding flash.

An employee of Gemor Electric Ltd., Becker was treated for first and second degree burns on his face and left forearm, and later released, said a nursing supervisor at Cambridge Memorial Hospital.

Wally Baechler, site manager, said the short caused power failure in wing 'B' until about 8:30 p.m.

Toyota training set for Guelph campus

By Cheryl Bryant

Toyota Motor Corp. is currently planning training activities in preparation for the opening of the Cambridge Toyota plant now under construction.

The training is part of the second year of a $15 million, five-year training contract between the Ontario government and Toyota.

Norm Johnstone, director of Conestoga College's Employer Centred Training, has been named training contract administrator in the deal. Through Johnstone the college will monitor Toyota's training activities to ensure the company qualifies for the five-year training grant.

Johnstone said the training of some maintenance workers for the new plant will take place at Conestoga's Guelph campus, but most of the new employees will be trained at the Toyota plant. Johnstone will approve, monitor and evaluate the upcoming training.

From May 27 to June 7 of this year, Johnstone and Kevin Mullan, associate director of finance and administration operations, Doon campus, visited Toyota's Pakaoka plant in Toyota City, Japan. They were shown the plant's education and training department, the training facilities, on-the-job training and the development of training materials.

Johnstone said Toyota sent

10 people to Japan for training during April, May and June, 1987. The company is hiring senior staff to train in Japan and is developing training materials in Japan and Canada.

During 1986, the first year of the contract, little activity took place.

"There wasn't much activity because Toyota was concentrating on its Kentucky plant and most of the activity centered on the development and translation of training materials," Johnstone said.

Under the training contract, the Ontario government has agreed to subsidize: the translation and development of English materials from Japanese; the transporting of Canadian workers to Japan for specific training; the transfer of Japanese workers to Cambridge to train Canadian workers; and the cost of some consumable supplies.

Construction of the Cambridge plant is on schedule, according to Johnstone. The plant is expected to be ready for production by November 1988.

"Early in '88, they (Toyota) will be hiring maintenance workers who will be involved in the installing of equipment and getting the plant ready for production," Johnstone said.

He said the Cambridge plant is expected to produce 50,000 cars a month, with emphasis on producing the Toyota Corolla.

Students prepare for September enrolment

By Deborah Crandall

The administration office at the Doon campus of Conestoga College is buzzing with the annual summer processing of applications and enrolment of students wishing first-year admittance to the September semester.

First-year enrolment at Conestoga College for diploma courses is expected to be about 1,840 for the 1987-88 academic year, according to associate registrar Betty Martin.

Enrolment is approximately the same as it was last year at this time with 1,660 confirmed acceptances in diploma courses.

Martin said the registrar's office won't know for sure how many acceptances have been confirmed until after July 31 when first tuition fees are due.

"We have traditional courses that are always filled. Applied arts programs, health sciences, and business programs are always filled to capacity," Martin said.

fill programs in technology, though enrolment is not down from last year in these courses.

The average tuition fee for a two-semester program (a program that runs from September through April) is $620.

"Some programs run for a 52-week period where students are being taught two years in one, so fees are double because they are actually paying for two years' tuition," Martin said.

Persons seeking admittance to the college must submit to the administration office a college application along with a transcript of their high school marks.

"To determine whether a person qualifies for a particular course or not we refer to the applicant assessment in the college calendar," Martin said. "Then it depends on what the program specifications are. There may be certain subjects that a student should have as background to get into a course, such as a Grade 11 standing in math and English. If a person has that, we would consider that they are acceptable to the program."

Martin said that in programs where there are more applications than space available, there may be an interview or a questionnaire to determine suitability. Top candidates are then determined by their academic standing.

All applications received up to March 1 are treated equally, and the first offers of admission start going out on April 1.

In programs where the college is still looking for applicants, such as technology courses, students are admitted as applications come in.

Golly, Ollie!

By Deborah Crandall

And in the category of best performance by a self-admitted lying, deceitful, document-shredding lieutenant-colonel in a daytime congressional hearing, the winner is . . . Ollie North.

Ollie, Americans love you! A recent poll in the New York Times showed that 64 per cent of those surveyed thought you were a patriot, and 18 per cent considered you a national hero. What's your secret?

Olliemanía is sweeping the U.S. Most men think he is an American hero. Most women don't care what he did; he's got puppy-dog eyes and salt-and-pepper hair. T-shirts with his profile and the words "Duty, Honor, Country" are being manufactured, men are getting Ollie haircuts, and thousands of phone calls, letters, and telegrams are being sent to North, supporting him.

During the days that North testified, the three major U.S. television networks pre-empted most of their regular daytime programming, but soap opera junkies did not face withdrawal, for what was going on in Washington was far juicier than anything happening in Port Charles or Santa Barbara.

What is it about North that has caused Americans to overlook (or even support) the illegalities he has practised?

Congress voted against aid to the Contras, yet North diverted profits from Iranian arms sales to aid Contra rebels. In theory, Congress represents the American public when establishing policies. Therefore, in theory, North not only betrayed Congress, but the wishes of U.S. citizens as well.

Yet, since North has testified at the Iran-Contra hearings, public support for Contra aid has increased considerably. Does North have an uncanny power of persuasion, or, perhaps, was he given at the hearings a nation-wide platform on which to present a logical, indisputable case?

Persuasive or logical, you've won the hearts of millions, Ollie. What's next, president or prison -- Oval Office or square cell?

Of all God's creations, mankind (and womankind too) has been gifted with characteristics unlike those of any other life form. In addition to our five physical senses of seeing, hearing, touching, tasting, and smelling, we humans are blessed with an attribute that can be described as our "sixth sense," or our "inner eye."

This inner vision has enabled us to progress from the dust of the earth to the heights of skyscrapers. Our technological advancements have carried us into an era with new horizons of space travel, and microchips.

The new computer age we are entering is bringing many promises to solve problems and questions that have plagued humanity throughout history. Knowledge in science is snowballing with the advancement of data processing equipment.

With the computer age we are also seeing more and easier communication between global communities. The cliché "it's a small world" is more true today than ever before. Communication from one end of our planet to the other is as simple as touching digits on a telephone.

Man's centuries-old vision of air travel has also become this century's commodity. Ancient dreams of travelling to the ends of the earth have become a reality.

We cannot only fly through the air, but have captured the power of the air. Radio, and particularly television, has taken the role of informer, communicator, and entertainer. With a flick of a finger we can tune the tube to our heart's desire. If we don't care to watch millions of starving people in Africa or foreign wars, we can turn to glad tidings of flesh and fantasy from Hollywood. From soaps to sitcoms to Saturday sports, the choice is ours.

Our society seems to have so much. Progress. Freedom. Choices. But we have a problem. We're losing our sensitivity. We're blitzing through social changes that are blurring our vision. Never since the dawn of history has a generation seen as much progress as ours. And yet never since the dawn of history has a generation had the capacity to destroy itself and the world it lives in.

We're losing our perspective of home and world events. What happens on the other side of the globe is affecting us whether we realize it or not. Many of us are aware of surrounding changes, yet cannot interpret them.

We're facing an irony. Our progress is hurting us. We're free to make choices, but we're not free to choose the results of them. Many don't know the difference between right and wrong, because we have rejected or don't understand the Bible and the teachings of Jesus Christ.

We must never lose our sensitivity, and if we have to, we must fight to get it back. We must never stop listening to our conscience.

We attend school to be educated in a field of our choice. Our education will prepare us to enter the workforce and contribute to the most technologically advanced generation of all time.

However, the true lessons of life can only be learned when we not only open our minds, but our hearts. Our progress is not only valueless but destructive if it blinds us from the true Light for living. Our generation needs new hope for our new horizons.

Only through our self effort and prayers will we be able to clearly see our purpose and place in God's universe. Only through our own individual self-surrender to Him will we be able to truly rise to victorious heights with a new understanding and the ability to solve our problems. The choice is ours.

Changes are filled with opportunity, says President

Times of change are always challenging. But when these challenges are met with vision, energy and a positive attitude, the changes that occur are filled with opportunity.

As I welcome you to a new year, I remind you that the purpose of Conestoga College -- the purpose of the education in which you are taking part -- is to ensure that the challenges of change are translated into opportunities.

The purpose of your career-related Conestoga education is not only to respond to change, but also to be an agent of change.

I urge you, both now and in the future, to call upon your own vision, energy and positive attitudes in pursuit of the opportunities offered to you by the Conestoga community.

These opportunities take many forms: commitment to your program of study, participation in athletic activities -- both varsity and intramural -- as well as recreational programs, and involvement in student activities and student government.

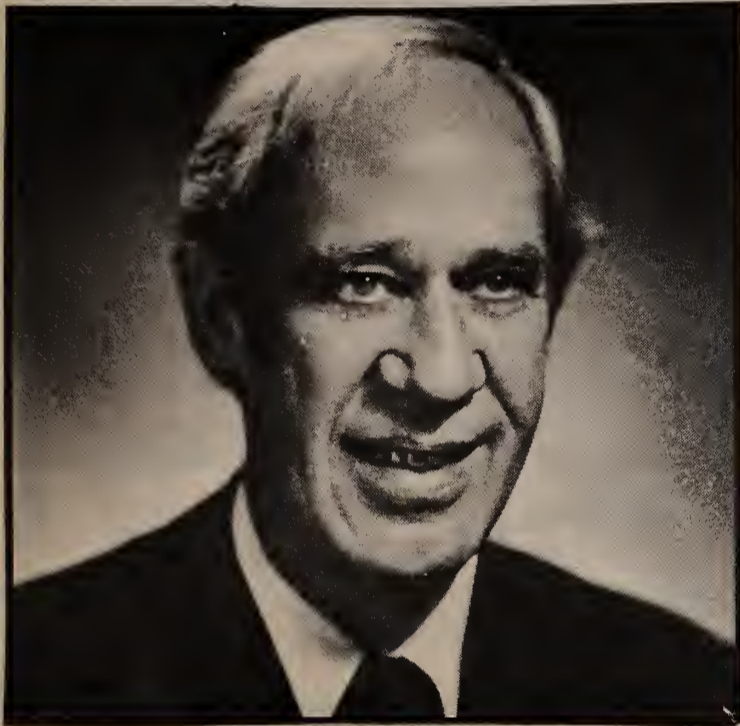

All of us at Conestoga -- faculty, staff and administrators -- are dedicated to helping you make the most of your present opportunities as a stepping stone to a productive, prosperous future.

When change seems confusing or disruptive, I encourage you to take heart and look to your friends and associates at Conestoga for direction, assistance and support.

We are a community, with the shared values, goals and experiences that are found in any thriving enterprise. So, as I welcome you to this new year, I urge you to be an active contributor to the "change means opportunity" spirit that makes Conestoga College a distinct, dynamic, exciting community.

OSAP — Things You Should Know

When will I receive the O.S.A.P. funds?

You will receive a "Notice of Assessment" when your application is assessed. Funds do not become available until you have registered at the College. You can anticipate long lines of students waiting to receive their funds at the Doon Campus. If you do not need your funds immediately, you may wish to wait for a couple of weeks until the lines decrease.

What is required when I pick up O.S.A.P. funds?

1. Proof of registration (plasticized student card, signed course registration).
2. Proof of your summer/work term earnings. A statement of your gross earnings is required (total of gross pay for the number of weeks available for work prior to returning to school to a maximum of 16 weeks).

In addition to the above, after Sept. 14 you will require a 'directive' signed by your program co-ordinator.

Where do I pick up O.S.A.P. funds?

Doon Campus — Students can pick up their funds in the O.S.A.P. office located in the Registrar's Office.

All Other Campuses — You will be informed at Orientation where funds are available for you.

Previous Canada or Ontario Student Loans

If you had a previous student loan and are not receiving O.S.A.P. assistance this year, it is YOUR RESPONSIBILITY to inform the bank by providing them with a 'SCHEDULE 2' - 'CONFIRMATION OF ENROLMENT'. Contact the Financial Aid Office and be prepared to provide your Student Number. It is YOUR RESPONSIBILITY to return the form to the Bank.

OSAP Hours — Doon Campus

Sept. 1-4 inclusive

Guelph Student Services

Welcome, new and returning students, on behalf of Guelph Student Services. Our office is staffed with one full-time counsellor, Roger Mainland, and two part-time counsellors, Karen McNaughton and Marian Mainland; all professionals, trained to assist you with personal, academic and financial problems. We can also make referrals to community agencies on your behalf when necessary. Remember, Student Services exists to assist you with problems that may interfere with achievement and success in your program.

During the school year, the counsellors offer a number of helpful workshops on assertiveness, stress management, job search and study skills. At orientation watch for more information about our first series of study skills workshops entitled, Headstart.

Another service offered to students is the Peer Tutoring System. Students having trouble with a particular subject are matched with peer tutors -- that is, students who are good in that subject. This program has had great success. Don't hesitate to contact a counsellor if you are having course difficulties.

We wish you a happy and successful stay at Guelph Campus and look forward to meeting many of you.

STUDENT COUNCIL MESSAGES

GUELPH CAMPUS

Hi, I'm Laura Roy, the President of the Guelph Student Association. I would like to take this opportunity to welcome all of the new students and also all of the returning students to the Guelph Campus of Conestoga College! We are looking forward to a great year, full of fun-filled events to help break some of the tension involved with your Post Secondary education.

This year we are really looking forward to meeting all of our new incoming students and getting them involved within the college and the G.S.A. activities. We are planning many activities for the Guelph students to participate in, including a barbecue and a social for the first-year students. This will be an opportunity during orientation week to meet the G.S.A. Executive, the second and third year students and hopefully some of your teachers. Throughout the year we plan to have pubs, socials, athletics nights and also our famous curling bonspiels, plus many more new events.

I would like to wish everyone a happy yet safe summer and it will be great to see and meet everyone in September.

See You Then

Laura Roy
G.S.A. President

WATERLOO CAMPUS

The 1987-88 Waterloo Student Association would like to welcome all new students as well as all returning students to Waterloo campus.

To open up the school year, we have planned many activities for Orientation. Included in these events are a bar-b-que, games and a Scavenger Hunt to be held on September 1. We hope that this will be one of the best on-campus orientations yet.

For the rest of the school year we have also planned more pub nights, nooners, live entertainment and many other activities to make '87/88 a year of fun and learning you'll never forget.

See you at Orientation '87!

Gary Bakker
W.S.A. President

DOON CAMPUS

Hi, and welcome to Conestoga College. My name is Paul Colussi and I am the president of the Doon Student Association. I am currently in my third and hopefully final year of Marketing.

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome the Nurses onto campus and I hope that you will enjoy your new home.

The D.S.A. provides a variety of activities for students and has worked hard all summer to make the upcoming year fun and exciting, but we need your help. Though the saying "Get involved, you'll be glad you did" may be overused it still holds true. Your involvement will not only enrich your lives and those of your fellow students, but it's also one step closer to having a successful year.

Whether this is your first year at Conestoga College or your last don't hesitate to get involved. Start now and your stay here at the College will be that much more enjoyable. Take advantage of the activities and events that we have planned for you next year. Years from now, it will not be the classes or tests that you remember about college, but the activities that you participated in and the friends you made while you were here. So come on get involved.

Paul Colussi
D.S.A. President

CONESTOGA COLLEGE

CAMBRIDGE CAMPUS

Welcome to the Cambridge Campus. Although the main objective is to prepare you for a course here or elsewhere, there is another function to the Cambridge Campus. It is the Leisure Time Committee, which is comprised of enthusiastic people ready to lighten the load and give you a break from the hustle and bustle of the books.

In the past the Leisure Time Committee has organized baseball games, bake sales, auction sales, bar-b-ques and weekly 50/50 draws. All the proceeds go to purchase items for the students at noon hour. With the proceeds from the 1986 Christmas dance, three new microwaves were purchased. The committee is waiting to try and make your stay a little more enjoyable. Your suggestions enable us to do so. See you in class

STRATFORD CAMPUS NURSING DIVISION

Summer's here yeah! The second years are recovering from a strenuous first year, probably lying in the sun somewhere. We the second year class hope the upcoming year will consist of some hard work, some good parties and other distractions.

As soon as you arrive, and before you've gotten your bearings, we'll all be out shining shoes to raise money for Cystic Fibrosis. A lot of planning has gone into this campaign and we're looking forward to everyone getting involved in "Shinerama".

Stratford has "enough to do" for the busy student. I am sure that a proper introduction to the local establishments will take place in the first few weeks.

We'll be here to welcome you with open arms. Have a good summer; get plenty of rest you've got a busy year ahead of you!

Lineups for OSAP cheques can be avoided

By Cheryl Bryant

Waiting to pick up Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP) cheques at the beginning of the school year can be a long and tedious process. Betty Martin, associate registrar for Conestoga College, Doon campus, said if students don't need their cheques right away, they might want to wait until the lineups thin out.

When Doon students pick up their cheques in September at the registrar's office, they will have to present proof of summer earnings and proof of registration. Time is spent with students to explain the OSAP process, including how they will receive their funding in the second semester.

Most students are notified of the amount of OSAP money they will receive by a notice of assessment sent from the college during the summer. Along with the notice is a form used to record summer earnings: eight weeks of earnings for students entering college from high school and 16 weeks for students who are entering from the workforce. Students can also prove their earnings with a letter from their employers.

For students who haven't applied for OSAP loans and grants, there is still time.

"If a person were applying now, in mid-July, they would likely receive their funds by the end of September," Martin said.

A student can apply for financial aid up to 90 days before the end of his or her program. It usually takes six to eight weeks for the application to be processed.

"Many students apply after they start school. The fund doesn't run dry," Martin said.

Both loans and grants are designed to supplement, but not replace, the financial resources of students and their families. Grants are not repayable unless there is an error on the application, the student drops his course load or leaves the program. Loans are repayable but are interest-free until six months after the student graduates.

The interest rate for Ontario Student Loans (OSL) is set each year at one per cent above the prime lending rate. The interest rate for Canada Student Loans (CSL) is set each year and varies. OSLs have a maximum repayment period of 78 months. CSLs have a repayment period that varies from 36 to 114 months, depending on the accumulated amount of the loan.

Martin said the Ontario government may review the six-month interest-free period. If students have difficulty finding jobs after graduation, repayment of the loan can be a problem.

"In most cases, I don't think it is a real hardship. But if they (the students) have a fairly high debt load to repay and then are unable to find employment, it could definitely be a hardship for them," Martin said.

She said that in some cases students can appeal to their banks to have the interest-free period extended or arrange to pay only the interest for a time.

"Some of the banks are becoming a little hesitant to take student loans," she said. "A student should establish an account at a chartered bank, not a trust company, since chartered banks are the only ones which will negotiate CSLs. They should become an established customer before they come back to school."

Students are eligible for grants only for a eight semesters, usually four years. Loans can be negotiated for a longer period.

Upon receiving their loans, students should budget what they will need for the year. Many students tend to spend all of their loan right away because they have more money than it appears they need, Martin said.

Students who have questions concerning their OSAP loans or grants are welcome to visit the registrar's office, located next to the bookstore.

Student housing hunt easier with early start

By Shawn Pellar

Finding a suitable place to live while attending college can make the difference between success and failure for students living away from home.

Myrna Nicholas of student services at the Doon campus of Conestoga College said the sooner a student begins looking for a place to live the better.

"I think it's one of the biggest things, particularly for first-year students. If they know where they're going to be living, then they can relax and get on with getting themselves ready to come and start college. If they're still scampering around at the last minute to find a place to live, that sets the tone for the first semester of school."

Nicholas said that each campus of Conestoga College has a housing registry. Available throughout the year, the computer systems listing is updated by the middle of June and ready for prospective students.

The student services housing registry has listings for private homes, room and board and room and cooking facilities.

Information such as the price of the facility and sex preference are put on a list and mailed to students wanting the information.

Nicholas said there was some concern that there might be a housing shortage due to the building of the new nursing complex at the Doon campus and nursing students moving into the area. At present she doesn't think it will be a problem this year. The housing registry at the Doon campus had mailed out 300 listings in mid-July for available housing in the area and still had 122 listings remaining.

"The only type of shortage that we seem to have is with students who move into the area with children. They should go through Homelocators (a private agency which charges a fee) or look through the newspapers," Nicholas said.

"The college just collates all the names and puts them on a list for students. We don't screen any of the homes, we have no idea what they are like; it's up to students to screen. If the students go to a home and don't like what they see, they're under no obligation to take it," she said. Nicholas said it would be unfair to screen students.

Nicholas said the average price for a room with a cooking facility runs approximately $55 a week, depending on what other facilities are offered. She recommends this avenue because she says it is cheaper in the long run. With private housing and room and board you pay for the food service if you use it or not.

The University of Waterloo and Wilfrid Laurier University both have housing departments for students. Nicholas said that both of these departments list a number of apartments for rent in the area.

One private agency, Homelocators, charges $50 to provide a list of available housing over a four-month period.

Also available at the Doon campus is a housing bulletin board where roommates are sought.

Nicholas advises students to look at housing realistically, estimating their expenses on the high side and their income on the low side.

A few home-hunting tips from Nicholas: start looking early, ask all kinds of questions, don't necessarily choose the first place, and make an effort so that it works out.

Express bus to continue

By Deborah Crandall

The express bus service, which runs from the Duke Street terminal in Kitchener to Conestoga's Doon campus, will operate again this year, said Kitchener Transit director Wally Beck.

The express bus leaves Duke Street at 7:30 a.m., stops at Fairview Park Mall at 7:45 a.m., and arrives at the college at 8 a.m.

Regular Conestoga College buses, 10A and 10B, arrive at and depart from the school approximately every 30 minutes. Bus 10A travels via Mill Park and bus 10B travels via Pioneer Park. Kitchener Transit schedules are available at the student services office.

Kitchener Transit will sell student bus passes in the student lounge at the Doon Campus Monday, Sept. 4 and Wednesday, Sept. 16 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The cost of one four-month pass is $130.

The possibility of an express bus route from Cambridge to the Doon campus has been under discussion in recent years. Conestoga College President Ken Hunter said further discussion on the route has been halted because Canada Coach Lines has a dormant franchise on any routes via Doon, and does not wish to operate the franchise.

Hunter said he foresees no immediate solution to the Cambridge-Doon busing situation.

Orientation Workshops: "Ready, Set..."

You're starting college in the fall of '87. Heading in a new educational direction can be both exciting and formidable. This is particularly true if you have been away from school for a number of years.

Student Services will be offering a series of free and voluntary head start seminars as part of your orientation schedule. While first year Nursing students will automatically participate in a workshop series as part of their orientation week, students in Ambulance and Emergency Care, Applied Arts, Business and Technology programs are invited to select their choices from the "Ready, Set..." brochure included in your mailings.

Workshops will run in the afternoon after your registration and program orientations. Following the workshops, at 3:15, all students are invited to attend the Doon Student Association BBQ in the Doon cafeteria.

On Thursday, September 3rd, more workshops will be offered for students who have not already begun classes.

Over 350 first year students participated in these workshops last year. The students indicated that not only did they find the content of the workshops helpful, but they also met a number of new people and felt more comfortable in the college setting prior to the start of formal classes.

To register, send the tear-off portion with the return envelope provided. Students may also register by calling the Student Services Office at 653-2511, extension 360.

We look forward to meeting you!

Recreation centre hosts Summer Fun Camp

Kids are all smiles at Conestoga's Summer Fun Camp

By Christine Diesbourg

Kids just want to have fun, and that's exactly what they're doing at Conestoga College's Doon campus.

Summer Fun Camp runs from the last week of July to the last week in August. Youngsters aged six to 10 are involved in supervised activities from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There are approximately 50 children involved in the program, which runs for four two-week sessions.

Jennifer Machel, program instructor and administrator, said, "they (the kids) can only sign up for one two-week session at a time, but some of the kids stay for the full eight weeks."

Each session includes activities such as crafts, nature activities, games (quiet and passive), sing-songs and swimming. Machel said, "We have trips to Ontario Place, Canada's Wonderland, and Bingleman Park. We plan theme days like circus day, and survival day." The cost for a two-week session is $90, which does not include optional trips the children go on.

Not only do the children have fun but the instructors also enjoy themselves. All of the instructors have names by which the children call them: Tracey Hughes (Flip), Cairin Harms (Hydra), Lisa Moses (Shmoses), Barb Epp (Twiggy) and Jennifer Machel (Spritz). "We just made the names up and that's what the kids call us. They don't know our real names," Machel said.

The fun camp has been running since 1980 and this is the second year Machel has been in charge. "I do job administration work and I work with the kids when I can. I do things like implementing a budget. Basically, I do all the behind-the-scenes work."

Machel added, "It's fun. The kids have a ball here. You don't have to be athletically inclined to come here. We just have fun."

Counselling available to students at Doon campus

By Carol-Ann Nugent

Students should seek help from counsellors at Conestoga

College when their problems start, not when it might be too late to help, says Barb Kraller, one of several counsellors in the student services department at the Doon campus.

Along with other counsellors, Kraller offers individual counselling on a confidential basis. Both academic and personal difficulties are assessed to determine what the problem is and why the student is having the problem.

Kraller said a common problem students face is that of having trouble in a course.

"We will counsel the students as to what their options are, and ways to help them with the course," Kraller said.

One service offered to students having difficulty in a course is peer tutoring. Students meet with a senior student skilled in that subject for a series of one-to-one sessions.

Kraller said students of all ages use the counselling service.

A young adult may have a problem adjusting to the transition from high school to college, whereas a middle-aged adult may also have a problem adjusting to school after spending so many years either in the workforce, or at home with children.

Counselling services do not extend to non-students. However, for people considering attending the college, pre-admission counselling is available. They are welcome to come in to speak to a counsellor about such things as what program best suits them, and what qualifications are needed.

In addition to individual counselling, a number of group workshops are offered throughout the year. Such things as stress, note-taking and time management are discussed.

Kraller said some students feel uncomfortable going to see a counsellor.

"The reason for our office is to help students in any way so that they can continue with their program. But the earlier the problems are identified, the easier it is then to find solutions," she said.

Conestoga offers summer school for seniors

By Deborah Crandall

A group of summer students at Conestoga College is showing that one is never too old to learn.

Students 60 years of age and older attended their first day of classes July 14 at the college's Doon campus.

Program co-ordinator Janice Kirby said the classes, which run every Tuesday until Aug. 11, are part a of senior life program designed for senior citizens.

The program, Summer Life at Conestoga-87, is co-ordinated by the college's continuing education department in conjunction with Rockway Senior Citizens' Centre in Kitchener.

The program consists of lectures on topics such as underwater reef life and marine animals, Egypt and the Middle East, relaxation and self-awareness techniques, and Canadian law. Also included are special events such as an afternoon with local celebrity

Carl Hiebert (who piloted an ultralight aircraft across Canada), a demonstration by highland dancers and a tour of Conestoga's Detweiler Centre.

"We felt the Detweiler Centre is an excellent centre and we've got it here, so why not use it. We thought there would be interest in its history," Kirby said.

Part of Kirby's job as co-ordinator is to look for lecturers to speak to Summer Life students.

"It's non-payment, so they (lecturers) are giving their time for free," said Kirby.

A lecture was given on the first day of classes by Rick Dawson from the Grand River Conservation Authority. Dawson began by telling his class of senior citizens, "We're going to talk about the birds and bees; the real ones."

Dawson was formerly on staff at Conestoga College in the life sciences department.

Response to the program has been good, with 51 of the possible 60 student spaces filled. Program newsletters are sent to the Rockway Centre by the college and then are forwarded to various senior citizens' clubs in Kitchener, Guelph, Cambridge, Elmira, Stratford and Ayr.

Summer Life student Helen Hastilow of Waterloo, who has been attending the program for three years, said she enjoys them.

"Some programs are more interesting than others. But there are many that I remember that were outstanding. It's their (lecturers') presentation as well. They make it interesting."

Continuing education director Wendy Oliver said the Summer Life at Conestoga program originated in the late 1970s and at that time was known as Senior Citizens' Summer Outing. It was only available to members of Rockway Senior Citizens' Centre until three years ago when all individuals 60 years of age and older where invited to participate.
